Dr. Falk Pharma Benelux B.V. – Medical Scientific Liaison

Dr. Falk Pharma GmbH is an independent family firm based in Freiburg im Breisgau, Germany. One of its subsidiaries is Dr. Falk Pharma Benelux B.V. The company is specialized in the development and sales of medicinal products for gastro-intestinal and liver diseases. These, mainly prescription, drugs are sold not only in Germany but also in a further 65 countries all over the world, often in co-operation with local partners and via their own subsidiary companies.

As local subsidiary Dr. Falk Pharma Benelux B.V., located in Breda The Netherlands, is responsible for sales in the three Benelux countries. The medical department currently has a vacancy for a medical scientific liaison with main territory Belgium.

The medical scientific liaison is responsible, in co-operation with other departments, for providing up-to-date medical knowledge with regard to the Dr. Falk Pharma product portfolio and therapeutic areas to both internal and external stakeholders. In this role the medical scientific liaison holds responsibility for key opinion leader management and project management of specific projects, like investigator initiated trials and observational trials.

The ideal candidate holds a (para)medical academic degree with 3-5 years of experience in the pharmaceutical industry, preferably within the area of gastro-intestinal and liver diseases, and is willing to travel for congress attendance. In addition the candidate shows excellent communication, presentation and networking skills and is able to take initiative.

Dr. Falk Pharma Benelux B.V. offers a position within its medical department in which the medical scientific liaison is able to function individually but in close collaboration with other departments in order to become a trustworthy partner for external stakeholders, like physicians, nurses, pharmacists and patient associations.

This position entails a 0,8-1,0 fte with market conform primary and secondary remuneration. Main territory Belgium, with office in Breda, The Netherlands (expected time allocation between office and field days 30%-70% respectively). The company language is Dutch, however knowledge of French (verbal and written) is mandatory.
